How do I check what version of Python is running my script

February 17th, 2019 - Like Seth said the main script could check sys version info but note that that didn't appear until 2.0 so if you want to support older versions you would need to check another version property of the sys module. But you still need to take care of not using any Python language features in the file that are not available in older Python versions
